HUMANITARIAN CONTEXT 2019:

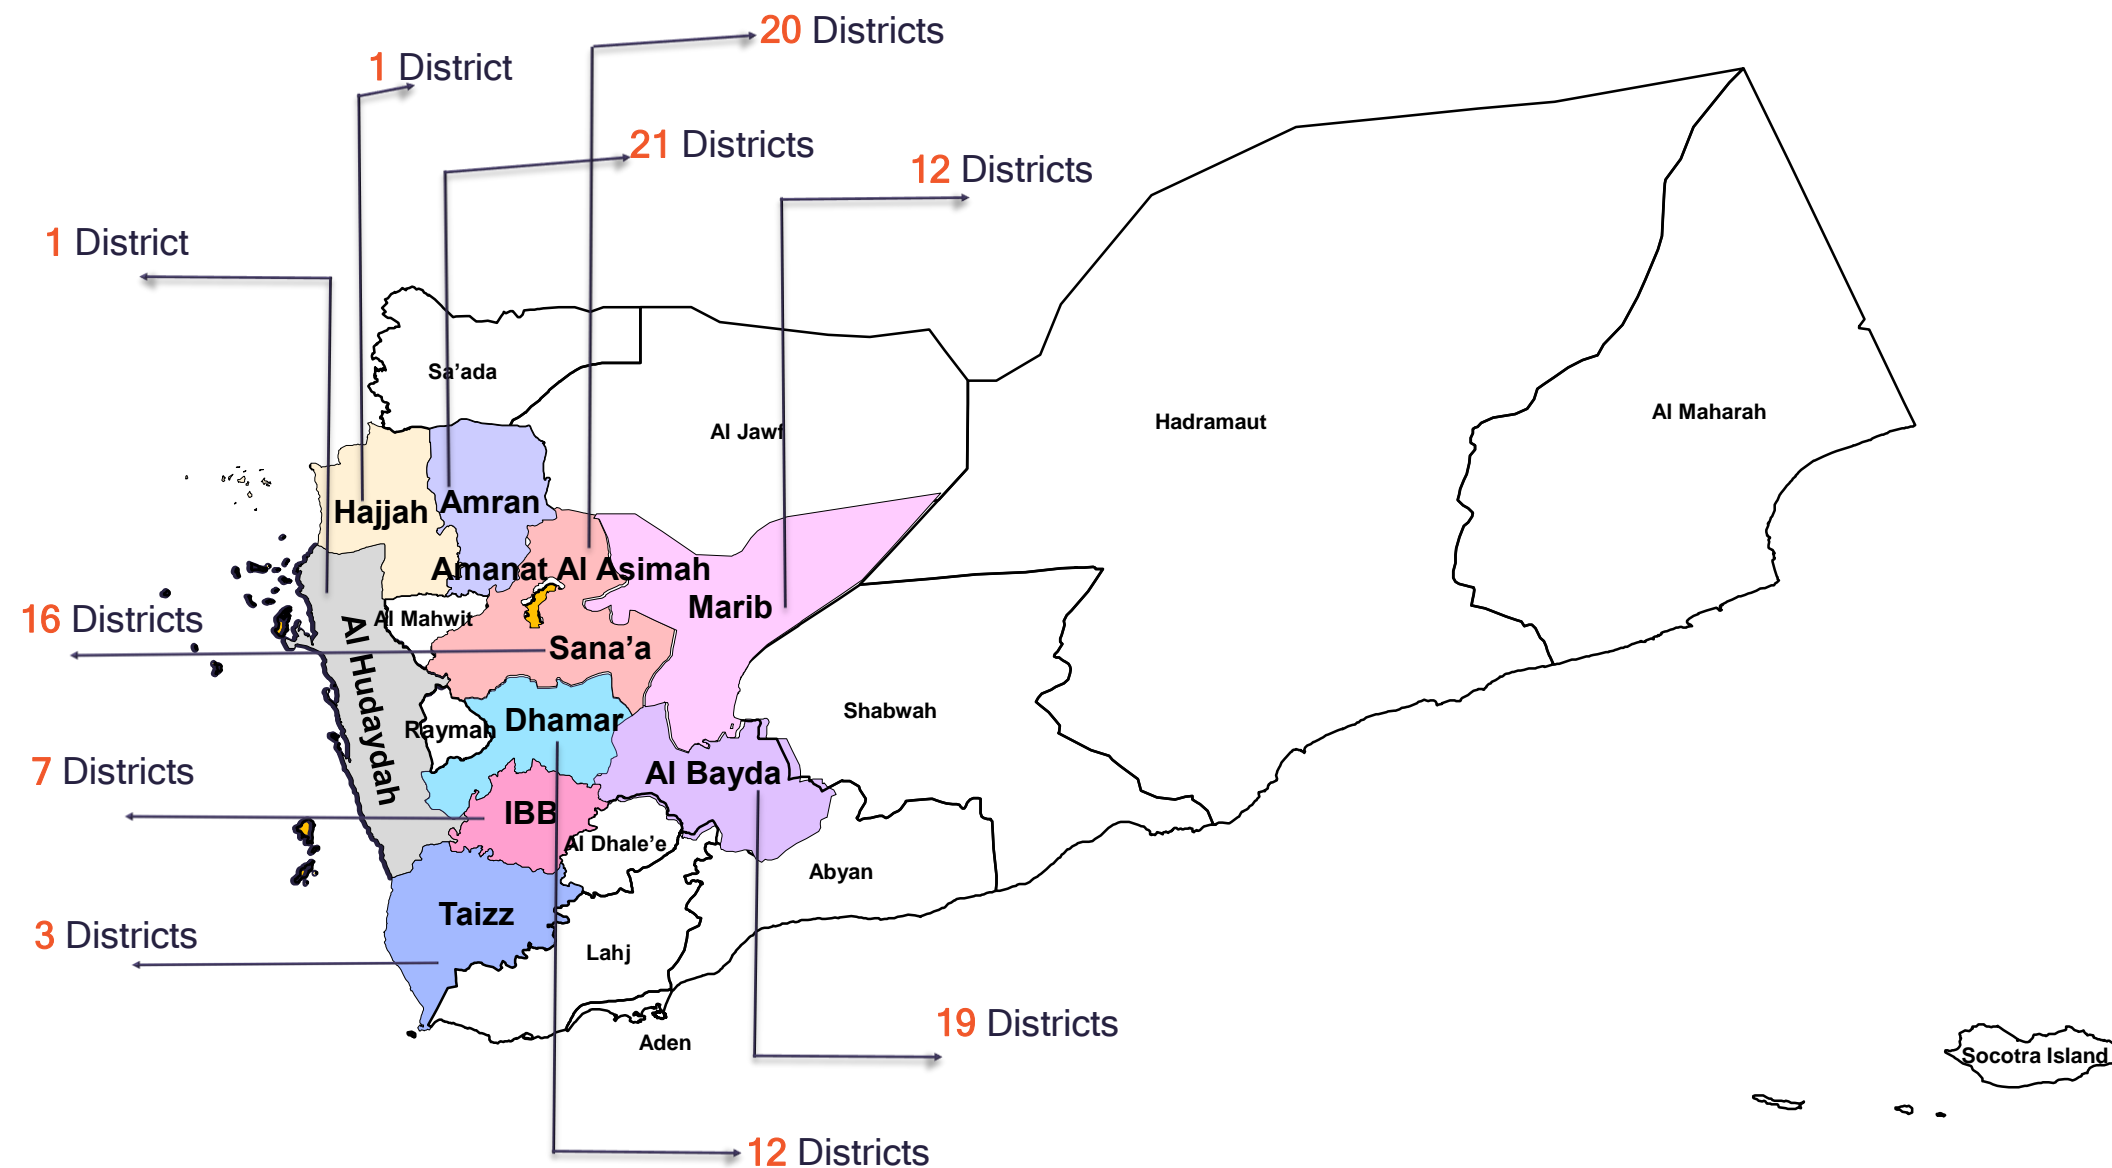

Hajjah is one of the most conflict-affected governorates in Yemen. Between February and May, fighting displaced 33,949 families (about 203,694 people). Displaced families are scattered across more than 300 sites.

Across Yemen, hostilities continue to exact a high civilian toll, although fewer casualties were reported in the first three months of 2019 than in the same period in 2018. "In the first quarter of the year, more than 900 civilian casualties were reported. And it is a sobering fact of the war in Yemen...that civilians are more likely to die in their own homes than anywhere else, as a result of the war."

Torrential rains and flooding in different areas of the country in recent weeks culminated in widespread flooding in southern governorates during the second week of June and affected close to 70,000 families across the country. As of 10 June, the authorities in Aden (the Executive Unit for Internally Displaced Persons), had identified more than 3,000 displaced families (18,000 people) in Aden, Lahj, Taizz and Hadramaut, who were affected by heavy rains and flooding between 7 and 9 June.

In northern governorates, the authorities in Sana'a reported rain and flooding over recent weeks have left 8,300 families (about 50,000 people) destitute. Hajjah Governorate was the worst hit, with the authorities reporting that more than 8,000 families (almost 48,000 people) were affected.
